VERANDA VIEWS

The City Club, Downtown Baton Rouge's Only Private Dining Club

Santa Claus is Coming ... Dec. 1st

FROM THE GENERAL MANAGER

THE HOLIDAY SEASON IS HERE

Kenny Roberson named Catering & Events Director

December will see several members of the Board of Governors transitioning off. I would like to thank Steve Boutwell, Jim Nickel, for their efforts on the City Club Board of Governors.

We are happy to announce a few new additions to our dinner menu! Look to the Chef's page for details. Also, I hope that you have noticed our weekly specials for dinner that we include inside the regular menu. This gives our fantastic kitchen the opportunity to try out different dishes to see if that is something we need to add later on. We have set a goal of changing the dinner menu 4 times a year.

It is my pleasure to announce that Kenny Roberson is the City Club's new Catering and Events Director. Kenny has been with the Club for 15 years and his knowledge of the membership, staff capabilities, food and his working relationship with the Chef will be extremely valuable. When you see beautiful events being taken care of in the City Club Kenny has been in the center of making that happen. His dedication to service and desire to grow inside of the City Club are great assets to the Club. Kenny is a member of the ASSOCIATION OF CLUB CATERING & EVENT PROFESSIONALS and will be soon going off to their annual convention with the Chef to gain more insights on planning perfect events.

As we head into November/December, we have many exciting holiday events planned at the Club. Please remember that reservations are required for all Club events and reservations can be made by calling the City Club 225-387-6757 or emailing to cityclub@brcityclub.com

City Club's Distinguished Speaker Series with...

Dr. W. Patrick Gahan

Institute for Dementia Research and Prevention
Pennington Biomedical Research Center

WE ARE PLEASED AND HONORED TO PRESENT TO YOU
DR. W. PATRICK GAHAN'S TALK AND Q&A ABOUT
"ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE: A 21ST CENTURY UPDATE"

Bio

Dr. W. Patrick Gahan, MD, F.A.C.P. is a Board Certified Geriatrician.

He earned his Bachelor degree from Washington University in St Louis Missouri and his MD from the University of Illinois.

Dr. Gahan is the Medical Investigator for all IDRP studies and has a research interest in blood pressure and polypharmacy as related to the elderly.

He is an adjunct faculty member of the Pennington Biomedical Research Center.

ABOUT THE IDRIP - INSTITUTE FOR DEMENTIA RESEARCH AND PREVENTION:

OUR RESEARCH

The Institute for Dementia Research and Prevention (IDRP) brings together multiple scientific disciplines within the clinical research arena in order to find novel ways of preventing, detecting, and managing dementia in the elderly. Our longitudinal studies provide a platform for the collection of data which identify the most important risk factors for the development of dementia, elucidate novel targets for the design of new therapeutic interventions, and develop new test for more effective detection and monitoring the earliest stages of dementia.

The IDRIP is establishing itself as a world leader in understanding the interactions between changes in mobility and the development of dementia. These studies incorporate cutting edge measures of free-living movement, life space, and overall mobility in individuals with a well defined cognitive status. Data from these studies will not only help us understand and prevent the cause for falls in the elderly, but will also help in keeping elderly individuals more mobile throughout their lifetime. To learn more, visit <https://idr.pbr.c.edu/>

MISSION

The mission of the IDRIP is to improve the quality of life for individuals in Louisiana by generating world class research programs focused on dementia prevention, providing local access to the latest clinical trials for the treatment of dementia, and providing educational opportunities for individuals/families affected by dementia. Based on our past success we now have set our sights on a single goal, "To change the face of Alzheimer's disease". Currently a diagnosis of Alzheimer's disease is devastating blow for the individual diagnosed, and their family. We intend to change the face of Alzheimer's disease in the very near future by not only continuing to work on prevention strategies, but to also make Alzheimer's disease a manageable disease (much like diabetes or cardiovascular disease). Additionally, we intend to reduce caregiver burnout and falls in individuals with dementia, which are the two leading causes for institutionalization and loss of independence. This is a huge goal, but it will have a huge impact on this devastating disease, and transform the way in which individuals with Alzheimer's disease and their families live and interact following diagnosis. Big change requires big goals, and unrelenting effort.

I have been amazed daily by the outstanding skill and efficiency of the IDRIP staff, the dedication of each of our study participants, and the sincerity and devotion of our supporters. I have seen the impact our successes in the tears and thanks we receive from those positively impacted by IDRIP efforts, and the ever increasing accrual of our scientific accomplishments. The IDRIP family rightfully deserves to be proud of all we have accomplished, and needs to know that TOGETHER WE CAN change the face of Alzheimer's disease.

Sincerely, Dr. Jeffrey N. Keller
